"He says . . . 'Godchaux's has the Clothes'!"
Here is a shop for women to revel in. Row upon row of the very finest of garments for women who prefer the tailored type of ensemble. You'll find skirts from Scotland, made of rich imported wools. Sweaters of fleecy Kashmir in brilliant colors, ensembles of corduroy after the California trend toward casual youthfulness.

There are also distinguished dresses, classically tailored in the English manner... as well as active sports apparel.

You can make no better investment than in retaining or regaining your youth. Here amid luxurious surroundings in the loveliest Beauty Salon you have ever seen... you will relax, knowing that the finest operators, using the latest ideas and equipment will make you more beautiful, more completely charming from top to toe. Prices are moderate.
Mr. Edwin Camp, who writes under the pen name of Ole Timer in the Atlanta Journal, has a few interesting remarks to make on this odd defensive maneuver.

Mr. Camp admits that his first reaction was that the 5-man line was new but that hours later it dawned on him that somewhere before he had seen just such a defensive set-up.

It was in the Georgia-Georgia Tech game in 1915.

We’ll let Ole Timer tell the story of that 1915 game:

TECH WAS DUE to beat Georgia. They had Froggy Morrison and Talley Johnston and Everett Strupper, and Roy (or was it Wisdom?) Goree, and Wooch Fielder and Tommy Spence in their backfield, and their line was as good as Georgia’s if not better. The year before, John W. Heisman had crystallized his jump-shift into a perfected maneuver and had beaten Georgia. Also, he had started a controversy as to its legality which was not stifled until William A. Alexander discarded it more than a decade later.

Anyway, southern officials held it legal, and it was a murderous instrument, and Tech’s backs were swell, and Georgia was in for a flogging.

Except that it was raining pitchforks, and W. Alexander Cunningham, Georgia’s coach, had figured out a defensive scheme which he thought might stop the jump shift.

Eventually Tech got the ball, and took its preliminary stance before the shift. But what an amazing alignment faced it! It was such a formation as no southern football team had ever run against.

The Georgia line consisted of two ends, Bill Garrard and Charlie Thompson; two tackles, Bright McConnell and Tom Thrash, and a center, Tiny Henderson. But Henderson was a yard back of the line and was the first man in a tandem; on Henderson’s shoulders rested the hands of Bull Carmody, supposed to be a guard; on Carmody’s shoulders were the hands of Hugh Culbreath, the other guard. Beyond and behind each end was a halfback, and downfield were the fullback and quarterback.

As Froggy Morrison chanted the hip-hip-hip of the jump shift, the Georgia tandem shifted with it. And when Strupper or Fielder or Johnson or Goree took the ball on those off-tackle slants or end runs which had been so lethal for a season and a half, one or more of the Georgia tandem met him at the line of scrimmage.

LARANETA & KAER, Southern Calif. halfbacks of 1926, both established records for total gains from scrimmage that eclipsed Orange's 1925 record. Laraneta 1,165 yards; Kaer 1,131 yards.
The score was 0 to 0. A moral victory for Georgia if there is anything moral in a failure to win.

THERE WAS your 5-man line. It frustrated Georgia Tech and the Tech attack, just as Auburn did last Saturday. True, it was a bit different in its arrangement, but it was a philosophical father and brother of the deployment which has attained such vogue this season.

A perfect defense, but not for long.

Tech was using the jump-shift the next year, in 1916. The back-field operators were the same—Morrison, Strupper, Johnston and Spence. Georgia set up the same defense.

"Hip-hip-hip," Tech would chorus, as it shifted to the right. "Hip-hip-hip," Pew and Garmany and Beasley would chorus, as they shifted to their left. The ball would snap, and Strupper or Johnston would set sail outside tackle, behind superb interference. But it was Spence who had the ball, and with lowered head he would ram straight through the vestigial trace of a Georgia defense. Score, Tech, 21; Georgia, 0.

AND THAT'S the way I believe this 1937 version of the 5-3-2-1 will turn out. It will be swell for a game or two. But it must have a vulnerable heel. Anyway, we will see.
T. HALE BOGGS, member of the law graduating class of 1937, who was recently named general manager of the Tulane Alumni Association to succeed Charles Rucker, who resigned to take up full time coaching duties. Boggs was very active on the campus serving as editor of The Hullabaloo and other publications. He was president of Omicron Delta Kappa and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.
Tulane Student Center

Tulane University students will have a place to hold meetings, conduct their activities and organization and a real step will be taken towards the development of an esprit de corps on the campus at the opening of the 1938-39 school year if the plans of the Tulane Alumni Association materialize.

The Association after a thorough investigation and study has begun a fund-raising campaign among the alumni and friends of the University for the erection of a student center building on the campus.

The campaign, according to Joseph Killeen, president of the Association, was undertaken only after a careful study of the needs of the campus. It was learned that practically every leading American university has a student center or student union building, where students from all departments of the colleges may gather.

For many years it has been almost impossible at Tulane for students in the respective colleges to become acquainted with one another and this has resulted in the creation of a feeling of loyalty to colleges rather than the University.

Tentative plans for the proposed structure call for it housing all activities and organizations, alumni office, providing facilities for general student body gatherings as well as recreation and lounging facilities.

"The Alumni Association," Mr. Killeen points out, "feels that this building will not only provide an adequate building for the many diverse organizations on the campus but will bring the students together in lasting friendships which will do much for the student as well as aid the University in turning out interested and loyal alumni.

"At the present time," he said, "students have no central place to meet. After they have finished their studies there is no place on the campus where they can gather for social meetings, parties, etc. This problem is even more acute for the many who are not members of fraternities."

The fund raising campaign has the full approval of President Rufus C. Harris and the Board of Administrators.

President Harris says—

"Tulane University needs a student center building and the alumni working together can render a fine service to their Alma Mater in co-operating with and giving generously to the drive that is now on. It is my hope that when the building is constructed it will provide a common meeting place for students, faculty and alumni, thus adding much to a sense of loyalty and understanding so essential to the University."

The Association has set a minimum goal of $100,000 to be raised for the structure and from present indications more is expected. Before the plans for the drive were announced members of the committee called on, and are still calling on, a selected list of large donors. The enthusiastic response from this group has indicated that the goal will be attained.

Booklets showing the need for the structure and what similar structures have accomplished at other American universities have been distributed to team captains who now have men in the field contacting alumni and others interested in the proposed project.

The Alumni Office in Gibson Hall is also preparing at this time attractive mailing pieces which will be mailed to all alumni setting forth the very definite need for the building and the fact that the alumni are being called on to proportionately share its cost.

Richard Foster is chairman of the student center committee and Judge Janvier, of the Court of Appeals of the Parish of Orleans, is chairman of fund-raising. Other committee members are Mr. Killeen, Dr. Edmond Faust, Louis Rosen, Cuthbert Baldwin, Colonel Edward Bres, Richard Montgomery, Jr., Walter Barnett, Jr., Charles Rucker and Clifford Favrot.

Team captains include James Amos, Drs. Faust and Ambrose Storck, Leonard Gessner, Harold Salmon, Lester Lautenschlaeger, Leon Irwin, Jr., Herbert Weil, Colonel Bres, Bernard Grehan and Joseph McCloskey.
In 1926, Southern Calif. lost two games—Stanford & Notre Dame—by the same score 13 to 12, and for the same reason. When opponents tried for decisive extra point after touchdown, the kicks were partially blocked by Trojan linemen, but the ball bounced over the goal posts.

Who - me? I'm just started.

Rumpeltes, of North Dakota State, played every minute of Conference football for four years, 1922 through 1925.

St. John's College of Winfield, Kan., made 236 yds. to 70 against Bethel, in 1925, but lost 6 to 3, when a fumbled punt was recovered by a Bethel man, who ran 25 yds. to a touchdown.

This is the way I like to make 'em.

Lipan of Niagara, scored a touchdown on a received punt, without moving a step. The kick by Skierkowski, of St. Bonaventure, went straight up in the air, behind the St. Bonaventure goal line, coming down in the end zone where Lipan caught it. The game was played in 1929.
O. D. K. Honors Dr. Landry, Judge Janvier

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, today honors Dr. Lucien Landry and Judge George Janvier by inducting these two loyal Tulanians into its fold.

Beginning in 1934, the O. D. K. has annually honored one or more outstanding Tulanians for their untiring efforts in behalf of the University.

Our salute to Judge Janvier and Dr. Landry.

Let me tell you, brother, when you have a famous eating place in New Orleans, it must be some place because they do know how to eat, and what to eat, and hospitality, and when you speak of Antoine’s, you have reached the “Z” and “&” in alphabetical praise. Antoine’s was founded in 1840 and has never had to resort to a jazz band. Imagine a restaurant existing and making a worldwide reputation on just food. My sombrero is tipped to Jules at Antoine’s.

Thus, ten times in that long stretch the Crimson has left the field the victor while Tulane's olive flag has fluttered high on three occasions. Once, in 1909, there was a tie.

The worst defeat administered was by 'Bama in 1914, 58 to 0. Second worst was Tulane's 33 to 0 smashing in 1916.

TIES
that thrilled

For thrills and chills there's nothing like a football game won or tied in the last minutes of play.

Not all tie games are dull. Some of them have been thrillers that have become a permanent part of the history of the game: The 21 to 21 Army-Navy game of 1926, the 33 to 33 Dartmouth-Yale game of 1931—called by many observers the most remarkable tie game in the history of the sport—and the 20 to 20 California-Stanford thriller of 1924.

The real fireworks of the Yale-Dartmouth game were delayed until the third quarter. In the second period Albie Booth, of Yale, had scored three touchdowns, one from a 94-yard run-back of a kick-off.

Yale added another seven points early in the third quarter, making the score 26 to 0; it would take three touchdowns to beat them. Then McCaU, of Dartmouth, ran the ensuing kick-off back 92 yards for a touchdown, and the extra point was kicked. Next Donner, Dartmouth right end, blocked Parker's kick for another tally which was also converted, and the count was Yale 33, Dartmouth 26.

Yale made the mistake of playing aggressive football. Todd shot a pass to Booth, but Dartmouth's McCall intercepted and darted 60 yards to score. The try for the extra point was wide; Dartmouth was three points behind. Then, without a sane spectator in the house, Morton essayed a field goal from the 23-yard line—and it was good!

The Army-Navy tie was decided by a kick, this one by a drop kick from the toe of Tom Hamilton, now Navy's head coach. The two teams were tied 14 to 14 at the half, and on the opening play of the third quarter Army's Chris Cagle went 60 yards for a touchdown. Army led, 21 to 14. With but six minutes to play, Navy marched the length of the field. Shapley crossed the line on the culminating effort of this drive, and then, with 122,000 spectators—football's biggest crowd—in deafening uproar, Hamilton calmly kicked the extra point.

California and Stanford were both undefeated in 1924. Midway in the fourth quarter the Bears had a 20 to 6 lead. The game appeared to be on ice, but not to a couple of Indians named Ted Shipkey and Murray Cuddeback. Cuddeback passed a high, wobbling pass to Shipkey in the end zone, kicked the extra point, and the score was California 20, Stanford 13.

Five minutes to play. Stanford took the ball on their own 5-yard line; mixing passes with running plays. Twenty-six yards to go, and only seconds left, now! Walker shoots a pass to Cuddeback, he turns, takes a few strides, and he's over! And Cuddeback kicked the extra point!
The Colonel's chest was deflated considerably after last week's guess-sperting spree (as Zipp Newman might call it) so it was with difficulty that we tried to persuade the old fellow to try a hand again today.

He came up with this list (which we refused to accept) but which will show you the old gentleman's moral fibre:

Dartmouth over Princeton, New York University over Lehigh, Duke over Wake Forest, Vandy over Sewanee, and a few others like that.

He became indignant when we hinted that he had picked "soft" spots.

"You call Princeton a soft spot," he bellows, "why look at their record over the past five years and dare say it again! Double dog dare!"

We ventured to suggest that their record this year wasn't so impressive and he went into a new brainstorm.

"You dare intimate that Sewanee's record won't compare with Vanderbilt!" he froths. "Why look at the Vandy-Sewanee record even 20 or 25 years ago and you'll see that Sewanee even then was a match for any of 'em."

That was too much.

Just then, the Colonel was called to the telephone by his shy little secretary, Miss Pimpernel (remember we used her picture on the front cover of the Clemson game).

He rushed back a moment later.

"You'll have to pick 'em for me this week. My chief-of-secretarial staff has just informed me that I am needed in an important conference."

We excused him, knowing that he was off on another cat-fishing trip.

So, here 'tis:

TENNESSEE - AUBURN — Those Vols did Georgia up mighty nasty-like last week while the Auburns were taking a mild shellacking from a smart Rice team. In a close game Tennessee gets the nod.

GEORGIA - FLORIDA — Don’t be surprised to see the 'Gators finally break into the victory column. They have been improving steadily. Georgia will probably have difficulty collecting the pieces after the Tennessee game, so it's Florida by a thread.

GEORGIA TECH - CLEMSON — Here's a rattler. If Tech runs true to form, they'll drop this one, conclusion being based on their red hot-ice cold alternating Saturdays. Yet, we'll venture a prediction that the Tornado will blow strong and win over a mighty good Clemson team.

KENTUCKY - SOUTH CAROLINA — Whispering this one: "Kentucky." That's how weak the vote is in the Wildcats' favor after the drubbing from Alabama.

L. S. U. - MISS. STATE — The Bengals by a couple.

ARMY - HARVARD — Here's another headache for the experts. A flip of the coin and its Army. Just like that.

HOLY CROSS - COLGATE — The Crusaders.

FORDHAM - PURDUE — The Rams but not without stern opposition all the way.

PITT - NOTRE DAME — This is the big game of the day in the Middle West. The Panthers, with Bowl visions, are riding high. The Irish have stamped themselves as one of the great "spirit" teams of the year, upsetting Navy and Minnesota after losing to Carnegie Tech. On form, the vote must go to Pittsburgh but there's many a slip between form and finish. A weak vote for the Panthers.

NORTHWESTERN - ILLINOIS — The Evanston Wildcats.

RICE - ARKANSAS — A close shave but the Owls get the call.

BAYLOR - TEXAS — You can't keep picking this Baylor team to lose despite the fact it seems to be in the cards that all Southwest Conference teams always lose one to their brethren somewhere along the road.
The above illustration indicates the membership and location of the thirteen schools that compose the comparatively new Southeastern Conference. These universities were formerly a very important part of the unwieldy Southern Conference, but withdrew in order to form a more compact group. Today the Big Thirteen, as the S. E. C. is often called, holds a top spot among the major football leagues in the nation.

Cut out the above drawing, and when a team suffers defeat, mark through its flag, and when the season is over only the white flag of the undefeated teams will remain — if any team goes through without a reverse this year.

Her Singing Coach Advised
A Light Smoke

CAROLE LOMBARD PREFERS LUCKIES
BECAUSE THEY'RE EASIER ON HER THROAT

WHEN I had to sing in a recent picture,” says Carole Lombard, “I considered giving up smoking. But my voice teacher said I needn’t if I’d select a light smoke—Luckies.

“I soon found that even when singing and acting 12 hours a day, I can smoke as many Luckies as I like without the slightest throat irritation.”

The reason Luckies are easy on Miss Lombard’s throat is because the “Toasting” process takes out certain throat irritants found in all tobacco—even the finest.

And Luckies do use the finest tobacco. Sworn records show that among independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers, warehousemen, etc.—Lucky Strike has twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined.

In the honest judgment of those who spend their lives buying, selling and handling tobacco...with men who know tobacco best...

it’s Luckies—2 to 1
